

ABSTRACT

[0086] A method and apparatus is described for enabling an advanced notification rule. According to one embodiment, the advanced notification rule may be generated to suspend, redirect or automatically acknowledge standard notifications, or transmit supplement notifications.